Bluepoint Solutions Unique Among Check 21 Capture Providers Only Credit Union Provider to Offer Complete Upgrade Path

Vista, Calif. – In deploying its C21Capture™ line of Check 21-compliant image-capture products, Bluepoint Solutions has become the only credit union supplier to offer a complete upgrade path that includes full integration into an enterprise-wide imaging system. C21Capture enables branch capture in a batch environment, as well as live capture at the teller workstation. In choosing teller capture, credit unions can further opt to integrate with Bluepoint's Receipt Manager™ product, and beyond that with the company's full document management suite.

"At the credit union level, check image capture is a document management issue," says Hal Tilbury, Bluepoint CEO and founder. "This document called a check comes in, and now the credit union must do something with it. That's why Bluepoint's document management expertise and its commitment to best practices make us the logical choice for this category of applications."

According to Tilbury, virtually all other vendors approach check image capture from an item processing standpoint. While item processing is clearly the ultimate objective of the exercise, approaching it from this standpoint does nothing to help a credit union integrate check image capture into its larger document management strategy.

"Our customers have been capturing check images at the teller workstation for the past two years," adds Tilbury, "so we know the value in doing this just from a research perspective. When you factor in the efficiencies and cost savings that Check 21 enables, the power of teller-line capture becomes exponentially greater."
