Bluepoint Solutions and CUTEK Sign Strategic Agreement Symitar Integration the Key Objective

Vista, Calif. -- Bluepoint Solutions, the premier provider of document management solutions for credit unions, and CUTEK, a new leader in technology integration services for credit unions, today announced a long-term alliance. The purpose of the alliance is to leverage CUTEK's expertise to fully integrate Bluepoint's products with the Symitar™ Episys™ core data processing system.

"Year after year, the numbers show that Symitar is a popular choice in credit union core processing," says Bluepoint CEO Hal Tilbury, "so integration with our own best-of-breed suite is a big plus for progressive credit unions. When you consider the incredible experience level that CUTEK brings to this effort, we believe our solution will offer a very compelling choice for Symitar users." All four CUTEK founders are former Symitar employees and combine decades of experience in that environment.

"With Symitar's ever-growing client-base, there will always be an audience of credit unions that want to harness the full potential of their Episys core processing systems, as well as add-on modules like Bluepoint's popular document management solutions," says CUTEK President Ron Murray. "We see this alliance as an opportunity to help Bluepoint continue enhancing its value with its clients. Bluepoint can utilize our Symitar expertise to help them better integrate their solutions with credit unions running Episys, thereby providing these credit unions with a significant competitive edge in the marketplace."

The collaboration between the two companies will result in several integration points between Episys and various Bluepoint products. Chief among them is a close integration with SymForm™, Symitar's electronic forms manager. For example, using Bluepoint's Internet Member Access™ module, Symitar credit unions will be able to display SymForm documents to their members directly via the Internet.

The two companies also noted that each will be exhibiting at the annual Symitar client conference in September.
