Bluepoint Solutions and CUTEK to Show Solutions at Symitar Conference

Vista, Calif. – Bluepoint Solutions, the premier provider of document management solutions for credit unions, and CUTEK, a new leader in technology integration services for credit unions, today announced that the initial results of their alliance will be demonstrated at the Symitar™ client conference, Sept. 6-9, 2005. The two companies teamed together in June to strengthen Bluepoint's integration into the Symitar Episys™ core processing system.

The specific features/functions to be demonstrated include the ability to:

Instantly display a scanned member ID that is stored in Bluepoint's software within the Episys interface any time a member record is accessed.

Display Bluepoint's member-centric document foldering hierarchy within the Episys interface for the current active member record.

Perform research within Bluepoint's Receipt Manager™ module from within the Episys interface.

Invoke Bluepoint's client software, including scanning capabilities, from within the Episys interface.

"We're giving Symitar credit unions the best of both worlds," says Bluepoint CEO Hal Tilbury. "They're getting our best-of-breed document management suite, elegantly integrated into their core processing platform."

"CUTEK's job is to provide programming that will allow enhanced integration between Symitar for Windows and Bluepoint," explains CUTEK President Ron Murray. "We're excited to help strengthen this integration, assisting Bluepoint in creating middleware that increases the communication capacity between their solutions and Symitar's core processing system."
